

EXAMION MOBILE X-R GENSUDC DENTAL X-RAY GENERATOR

XR-EX314XGENHFF

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Equipped with an X-ray tube (Intensity from 4 to 8 mA) and producing a constant voltage of 60 kV or 70kV

The new xgenus dc works at high frequencies and ensures high-quality x-rays in any conditions. Its combined features allow for total optimization of diagnosis, with an exposure reduction equal to 35% compared to monophasic technology devices.

Key Features:

- Protection: Ensure better protection of the patient with the xgenus due to the x-ray tubes being located right at the back of the tube head. Its filtering process and excellent control of radiation leakage contribute to users' safety, whilst the control button (incorporating a security time system) guarantees that the doses of radiation administered dot the patient remains constant.
- Movement: The pantograph arm ensures optimal movement together with precise positioning. It is also easy to maintain and disinfect.
- Intelligence: The new control panel makes the system completely safe and easy to use. Features include; automatic diagnosis of the elements on the control panel at all times, checking of electrical parameters through the timer and automatic compensation of exposure according to fluctuations in line voltage.
- Reliability: Known for its reliability and precisions, the xgenus is designed in one piece and made from light alloy. Built-in conformity with the "double chamber" technique - the first component contains the x-ray tube with dielectric oil and the second one houses the electronic components.
- Ergonomics: Patented timer incorporates new technology able to recognise the type of generator connected. Easy to use control panel with exposures that can be personalised and programmed.
