In veterinary education, applying theory-based learning to an authentic clinical environment can be challenging - which is why, at Burtons Academy, we are combining the two.

In this CPD evening we will discuss both capnography and ventilation, before breaking off into small group practical sessions, working hands-on with a ventilator and a carbon dioxide-expiring canine model. This will enable the real-life simulation of a patient under anaesthesia and will focus on using capnography as a tool during mechanical ventilation. Whilst we practice using a mechanical ventilator, all the concepts apply to you if you are providing manual breaths too.

This event is being held on Thursday 27th April 2023 at The Devon Hotel, Matford, Devon, EX2 8XU and will start from 6.30pm:

Agenda:

- 6.30pm - Arrive
- 7.00pm - Ventilation Talk
- 7.45pm - Capnography Talk
- 8.30pm - Mid-session break
- 8.45pm - Hands-on exercises start
- 10.00pm - Event closes

Speakers:

Courtney Scales DipVN, NCert(Anaesth), RVN - Clinical Educator in Anaesthesia
Dr Keith Simpson BVSc, MRCVS, MIET(Electronics) - Clinical Director

After the event, notes and a CPD Certificate will be emailed to the email address you register with. To keep in line with the Burtons environmental and sustainably ethos, we recommend you bring your own pen and notebook for the evening, although stationery will be provided.
